ABOUT THE TUTOR

This fall will begin my 5th year at Koinonia, and it has been such a blessing and privilege to learn and do Art with elementary age children! I believe that enriching art activities can expose children to a wealth of positive art experiences and also nurture their creativity as image bearers of our great Creator. My love for Art began early growing up in a family who enjoyed and appreciated the Arts, and my sisters and I were encouraged to develop the artistic gifts God gave us. Attending a small Christian high school allowed me an opportunity to study and enjoy Art with a wonderful teacher who integrated well her passion for Art with her passion for God and influenced both in me for years to come. College Art and Education classes continued to fuel my interest in both subjects. This, along with being a Mom who cared deeply about the education and influences in my children's lives drew me to volunteer in the classroom as often as possible. In working with children of all ages in school and church, I have been grateful for the opportunity to encourage young people in matters of faith and life. My husband and I have worshipped and served at Blythefield Hills Baptist Church for 37 years. We have three children and four grandkids ages 7 and under. (We love being grandparents!)
